Consent for Classroom Observations

Child's Name _____

As part of our program, we often have consultants, specialists and college or graduate students observe in our classrooms, either to further their understanding of early childhood, or to provide feedback to us about our work with young children. This is one of the ways we learn about and implement best practices in early childhood education at AHNS.

Some of our consultants include:

- Speech and Language Therapist
- Occupational Therapist
- Physical Therapist
- Curriculum Specialist
- Child Psychologist
- Social Worker
- Early Childhood Coordinator for the Town of Arlington
- Early Intervention Specialists
- College or graduate students studying early childhood education or child development or related fields.

I grant permission for my child to be observed in his or her classroom and for our consultants to provide feedback to the teaching and administrative staff.
